Adjunct Research Associate at Isfahan University of Technology

In line with the internationalization policies of IUT and at the suggestion of the IUT International, the regulations for the admission of affiliated researchers, were approved by the University Board of Governance in June 2021.

This bylaw under the title of Adjunct Research Associate is to attract the cooperation of international researchers and specialists who are working in universities or industries and wish to cooperate with Isfahan University of Technology (IUT).

■ This program aims at:

- A) improving the quality and quantity of university activities and achieving a position among the world's top universities,
- B) creating the capacity to accept students in graduate schools, especially doctoral courses;
- C) improving international interactions;
- D) promoting the international rank of the university;
- E) increasing opportunities for studying abroad for doctoral students;
- F) strengthening the equipment and research infrastructures of the university for the implementation of research projects, graduate projects, and participation in international industrial projects.

An Adjunct Research Associate is an international scientist or researcher who, despite being employed in one of the research institutes or international companies, cooperates with IUT within a certain period in a defined agreement. This duration of cooperation is applicable throughout the school year or between semesters.

■ Areas of Collaboration:

- A) Cooperation in research affairs and research contracts;
- B) Cooperating in advising and supervising theses and dissertations of graduate students;
- C) Presenting seminars and training workshops;
- D) Cooperation in solving the research problems of IUT colleagues and graduate students by using research facilities abroad (such as scientific information, patent registration, required experiments, and other cases that are not possible to be carried out in Isfahan University of Technology).

■ General Terms:

- A) providing access to the University services and supports;
- B) free accommodation in the IUT guest house during their stay at the university;
- C) reimbursing round trip tickets at economy level with the consent of the Vice-president of the Research and Technology, if necessary.

For non-resident Iranians, the National Elite Foundation will cover the travel expenses.
